

Stall Talk

July 2006

lib.virginia.edu/press/stalltalk

Fixing Up and Plugging In

This summer the Library and ITC are giving Alderman's former cataloging room a complete overhaul in order to bring you the new Scholars' Lab this fall. The Lab will combine the services of the GeoStat and E-text centers with ITC's Research Computing Support Center, creating 4,000 square feet of new research and study space for students and faculty. ITC is also working with Brown Science and Engineering Library to open a second updated lab this fall as well. Stay tuned for details!

Declarative Docents

Trained volunteer docents are available for guided tours of Creating Independence: Creating and Re-creating America's Document in the Albert and Shirley Small Special Collections Library. In addition to answering questions and providing information about the exhibit, a docent tour is a great way to start a conversation about American history without all that messy paper-writing. Days and times for summer tours are:

Tuesdays at noon and 1pm
Wednesdays at 1pm and 2pm
Thursdays at 2 pm and 3pm
Fridays from 10am to 4pm

Whether you're checking out materials or visiting an exhibit, be sure to check our hours page before making the trip to the library-

www.lib.virginia.edu/hours

Clemons just became even MORE popular. Thanks to the Parents Fund, the main floor of Clemons library now features a row of cushy, diner-style booths. No tipping necessary.

Summer Work

Not everyone can have the summer off. For those of us who still have work to do, ITC computer consultants are available Monday through Friday until August 10 in Brown Science and Engineering Library (10am to 7pm) and Clemons Library (noon to 9pm). The sooner you resolve those issues with passwords, file recovery, and software conflicts, the sooner you can get back to enjoying the season properly.

* E.B. White born July 11, 1899.